

At Launch Academy, we think the best way to learn is by doing—and in this case, coding! Every day on campus, you'll work on problems that you'll face in the workplace.

We use a “flipped classroom” approach: lectures and readings take place outside of class, so you can use in-class time to build and experiment with your peers. We'll have daily facilitations, one-on-one meetings with Experience Engineers, coding clinics, and (of course) time to code!

Outside our core technical curriculum, you'll also get plenty of time with our Career Services team, including a review of your resume and social media audit, practice with public speaking and presentations, and opportunities to network.
